

WHY KIDS MISBEHAVE!

"There are only two lasting bequests we can hope to give...children ...one of these is roots, the other, wings.

The first step towards boredom is _____.

BELIEFS:

"As water reflects a face, so a man's heart reflects the man." (Proverbs 27:19)

"I believe in you"

"I trust you"

"I know you can handle this"

"You are listened to"

"You are cared for"

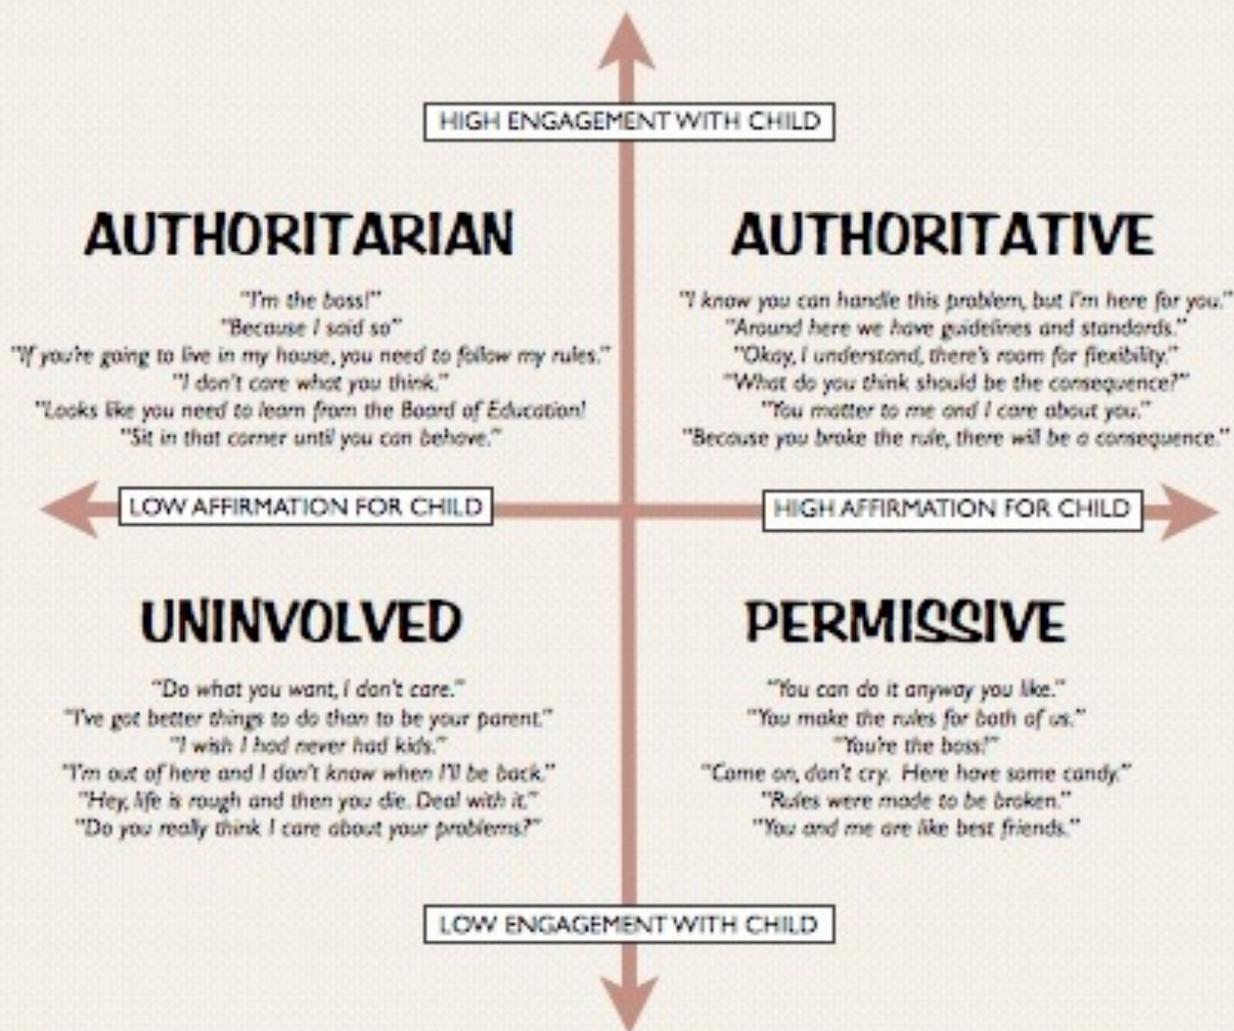

"You are important to me"

PROACTIVE DISCIPLINE:

- Ban the Bribes: When we resort to external motivators like prizes, candy and gimmicks to reward student behavior we create temporary fixes that fail in the long run. Win their behavior with rewards, you have to keep them with more rewards. It's a never ending, vicious cycle.
- Encouragement: Substantive praise and commendation wins a student's affection and attention. Substantive praise focuses on WHAT was done well, not that it was done WELL. For example, don't say "Good job, Johnny!" but "Johnny, I thought your answer really showed great insight and depth of creativity."
- Preparation: If you don't prepare, you will repair. Ninety-percent of misbehavior happens when teachers are not ready. We create our own problems. Be prepared to teach!
- Natural Consequences: When misbehavior happens, try to invoke natural consequences that match the deed. If a student accidentally spills glue, have him clean it up. Teach responsibility.
- Feed The Need (or the inner GROWLS): Every person hungers for grace (unconditional acceptance), relationship (connection/community), ownership (control/contribution), worth (value/voice), laughter and security.
- Create a Positive Classroom Setting: Reduce the rows. Spend time with students outside of class. Watch for personal biases against students. Use creative attention-getters. Avoid predictability. Remember, attention spans match the student's age (up to 10 minutes). When you exhaust, you no longer educate.

WHY KIDS MISBEHAVE?
THE POWER OF COMMUNITY

We all long to belong. It's deep within our genes to gather and group. The emergence of cyber technologies and web culture has only intensified this human need.

In my experience, the number one reason why misbehavior sprouts is a child, teen or even adult isn't "feeling the love." The child or student is sensing a disconnect, either from you, the situation or the material. Consequently, they consciously or even subconsciously act up or out.

It's ironic today how many kids are starved for attention and affection. Never before in history have more adults and peers been able to connect—particularly through digital communication and social networking than in today's world. And yet, we have "attention-deficit disorder" or A.D.D. We have children literally malnourished in their relational needs.

NOTABLE QUOTES

In everyone's life, at some inner fire goes out. It is time flame by another human being all be thankful for who rekindle it.

One's friends are human or not.

Each of us is a being in society.

THE GLASSER MODEL

William Glasser believes for schools to survive they must be redesigned to emphasize quality in all student work. The focus of Glasser's work since 1982 has been to describe teaching practices that are more likely to motivate students to engage in worthwhile learning activities and to have the power to meet their survival, belonging, power, fun and freedom.

BIOGRAPHY

WILLIAM GLASSER IS A PSYCHIATRIST AND EDUCATIONAL CONSULTANT, FREQUENTLY INVITED IN SCHOOLS. BORN IN IRELAND, ORIGINALLY NOTORIOUS FOR HIS CHANGING INTERNATIONAL TOURS OF TREATMENT HOSPITALS, GLASSER'S FOCUS OF TREATMENT MOVED FROM HOSPITALS TO SCHOOLS. The truth is, discipline matters. A class that's engaged and behaving will learn deeper, longer and better. A home that's free of continual battles, backbiting and bickering is hopeful, happy and healthy. In fact, the primary discouragement in teaching or parenting comes from dealing with misbehavior. Bad kids wear you out.
